

Life on a live development

Living alongside continuing construction

gleeson

When you move onto a new Gleeson development, there may be ongoing construction continuing around your home as your neighbours' new homes are built.

Building sites can be dangerous areas and we will ensure that the active site area always remains secure. Whilst work on the site is completed, there may be some dust, noise, and changes in road layout as we move from one section of the development to another. We will always aim to keep disruption to a minimum.

Whilst building work remain ongoing, we encourage you to observe the following essential guidance:

1. Be aware of site delivery vehicles entering and leaving the site
2. Look out for our signage warning you of any dangers
3. Do not enter any live construction areas
4. Take care on any unadopted roads and footpaths
5. Report any concerns to the Site Manager
6. Avoid parking on, or obstructing, estate roads when construction traffic requires access

The sales and site team will keep you updated with any works that may take place around the development, outside of the main construction area, and will issue any communications informing you of precautions you may need to take.

Right where you belong

NHQC-012-V3 | All information correct at time of production, 13 February 2026

